

— BSB CIBSE CPD Offering

Understanding Basic Smoke Control, How It Relates to the Principles of the Building Safety Act, and What You Should Be Asking Your Smoke Control Experts

To comply with the new Building Safety Act and Residential Building Standard BS 9991:2024 understanding basic smoke control design and what you should be asking your smoke control experts to make sure they are competent has become of even higher importance.

6 modules

Structured seminar covering competence to Gateway 2

CIBSE CPD

Approved continuing professional development

Free to book

Delivered in person or online, at no cost

Assessed to ISO 9001:2015 Cert No. 1464

— CPD Agenda

- 1 Introduction
- 2 Smoke Behaviour & Smoke Control
- 3 Smoke Control in Residential Buildings
- 4 Regulations & Guidance
- 5 Accountability & Competence
- 6 Manufacturer Documentation
- 7 How Building Design Impacts Smoke Control

— What you'll learn

Challenges of understanding the different products when presented to you

Understand which systems are available in the marketplace and what questions should you be asking for specification or looking at like for like options.

Building Safety Act Alignment

Learn how smoke control systems link in with the new Building Safety Act and new building regulations 9991:2024.

In-depth Review of Standards

Explore in more depth the standards and what you should be asking your Fire Safety expert.

Who Benefits the Most:

This training is ideal for Mechanical & Electrical engineers, HVAC designers.

Formula of the Event:

Our training comprises a 45-minute interactive seminar followed by a 15-minute Q&A session.

What you will get:

1. Check list of does & don'ts